

The Vanderbilt University School of Medicine
Department of Radiology and Radiological Sciences

Presents

“Entrepreneurship for physicians: You have a great idea, how to get it to market”

By

Fred T. Lee Jr., M.D.

Professor of Radiology
Robert A. Turrell Professor of Medical Imaging
Department of Radiology
University of Wisconsin School of Medicine and Public Health

Monday
December 9, 2013
12:00 p.m. – 1:00 p.m.

202 Light Hall
Vanderbilt University Medical Center

This grand round is designed for faculty, residents, staff and medical students. Objectives of this presentation: 1. Gain knowledge in how most medical devices are invented and come to market. 2. Understand the different options for technology transfer of medical devices. 3. Understand the basics of forming and financing your own company.

Sponsored by Vanderbilt School of Medicine, Department of Radiology and Radiological Sciences.

Vanderbilt University School of Medicine is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians. Vanderbilt University School of Medicine designates this live activity for a maximum of 1 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity. Jeff L. Creasy, M.D., course director, has no financial relationships related to the content of this activity to disclose. Fred T. Lee Jr., M.D., presenter, has the following relationships to disclose: New Wave Medical, Inc. Madison, WI., as a shareholder. Vanderbilt CME has determined that there is no conflict of interest.

This educational activity received no commercial support.